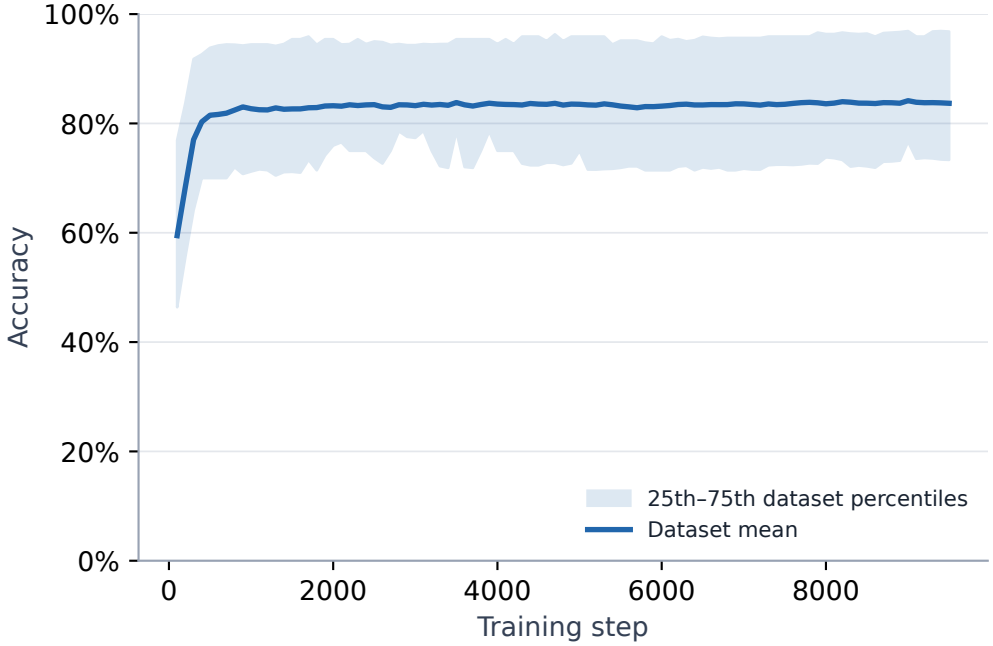
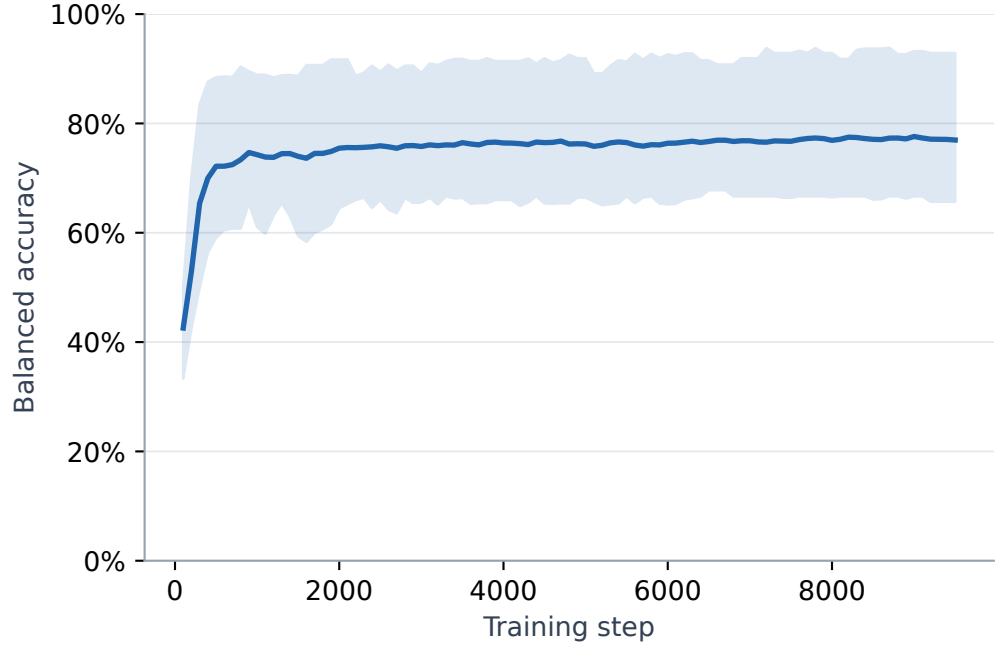
Performance varies across datasets





Shading describes variability across datasets, not confidence intervals or repeated-run uncertainty • Partial run